FOREWORD

In this Hawley High Hornet of '68 we have tried to preserve some of the ideas and feelings that the school life her presented. Success is one of the most strived for challenges we are asked to respond to. However, the necessary efforts must be put forth to gain and to maintain it.

You, the student, set the pace that provides for a wholesome school spirit. The happy faces at lunch time, tripping the light fantastic toe at the dances, the cry of excitement at basketball games, and the depressed look at report card times are all a part of our wonderful days at school.

We, the yearbook staff, have put forth considerable efforts to present a few of the exciting school highlights of 1967-1968.

Hawley High, Hawley High
We love thee so
Hawley High, we held thee
Where'er we go.
If we travel far and wide,
You will always be our guide.
Oh Hawley High you are our pride.

Chorus: So three cheers, three cheers
For our colors so bold
Dear ole Hawley's Blue and Gold.

Hawley High, Hawley High
Our school so dear,
We sing your phrases,
Loud and clear.
In our hearts you'll never grow old
How we love the Blue and Gold.
Alma Mater, we're in your fold.

Editor's Message

In the modern world today, we are confronted with ever, increasing changes in education. As a result, it has become a key which will unlock the door to many successful opportunities and careers.

We must struggle hard in what we desire to achieve, for succeeding is a goal we have to decide for ourselves. We give thanks in prayer to God, our principal, faculty and parents for staying by our side.

The guidance that they gave us cannot be measured by any means. Through their invaluable assistance the senior class of 1968 has been able to conquer the obstacles of the past. We are ever reminded of their generous and invaluable help.

After four years of struggling, we slowly bring our stay at Hawley to a close. Mrs. Brooks and Miss Chavis have aided us in solving many problems which we could not have done otherwise. They have helped smooth the way for us so that we may face the task of departing with enthusiasm and zeal.

We, the senior class of '68 wish to dedicate our yearbook to our advisors Mrs. V. F. Brooks and Miss M. C. Chavis.

Without their ideas, instructings, and support, our graduation would be far less exciting and successful.

We dedicate to you, our Senior advisor, the "1968 Hornet".

Principal's Message

Dear Graduates,

The season of commencement has come again and for many of you it is a time of conflicting emotions, a time of satisfaction upon reaching a goal long desired and long worked for, a time of sadness at the necessity of leaving familiar scenes and an accustomed routines. For this experience to be worth something to you, it must aid you in some way to live better or more happily. The subjects you have studied here in school have been selected because of their value in helping you succeed in further schooling and on the job. Their ultimate usefulness lie in preparing you for citizenship, social living and critical thinking.

The secret to both success and happiness can be realized by having done one's best in tackling the work which one finds to be done. This is good counsel whether applied to the vast world stage or to a corner in your community which is called home.

May God bless you and Ering you best of luck.

Sincerely,

D. O. Leatherberry
Principal

Assistant Principal's Message

Greetings to the members of the 1967-68 graduating class!

First of all, I am delighted to have joined the team that directed a great deal of your learning experiences during the twelfth year of formal education in our public school system of Granville county.

I hope that by now you have made sense out of the complexity and diversity of our American society. It will be your responsibility to examine critically--knowledge, skill and attitudes, and pass on to successive generation those beliefs and values that are crucial to the maintenance of a pluralistic society.

As you take leave from your position as a citizen and student in the G. C. Hawley School community, I would only remind you that in a free society, it is "YOU" who decide your fate! I hope the dialogues you have had with teachers and fellow students here at Hawley will help you to decide wisely even in the face of appealing alternatives in a broad range of possibilities.

The Future is yours; command it!

Mr. David S. Harkness
Assistant Principal

Secretary's Message

As students about to embark on the serious business of life, you should remember that success doesn't come easy. One must work hard and apply himself to whatever task is before him. Certainly your school days have been enjoyable, but the time has come when you must turn to another phase of life, where you must hold on to the firm ideas that have been implanted within you and do the work necessary to reach the goals you have set.

With all good wishes for your success

Sincerely,

Elaine S. Moss

(Mrs.) Elaine S. Moss

Senior Advisor's Message

Reminiscing is only natural as we attempt construction of a message of gratitude and challenge to the senior class of 1967-68. Four years ago you launched your journey here as freshmen, both on ventures of aspiration for growth and service. You will share a special place in our memories because of our kindred relationship. For this reason also we share your concern not only in your past, but more important for your future. Your past four years have been marked by illustrious growth and progress, you are to be commended for the fruits of your efforts so evident, which resulted from diligence and perseverance.

In closing, we challenge each of you to excel through vision, enlightenment, and understanding.

Best wishes,

V. F. Brooks

President's Address

To the principal and members of the faculty, on behalf of the senior class of 67-68, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you, the teachers, and school personnel of Hawley high school, for your support, leadership, and guidance.

Without your training, we could not have reached this important stage of life, and then we would not be capable of enduring the many problems of our changing society--during our stay at this institution we hope we have left among you marks of great impressions, and because of the great training and educational background you have given us, we will endeavor to carry the torch of progress through the changing years ahead.

To the student body, the senior class encourages you, the underclassmen, to take full advantage of your educational facilities and the educational training which Hawley has to offer you. If you do not take advantage of these facilities, you will be curtailing your education and your chances for equal opportunity. Remember, "An education provides opportunity." If you have the education, you also have opportunity.

In closing I would like to say this: our stay here has been a joyous one, and we shall sincerely miss you and the good times we have shared at dear old Hawley. As we venture out in this uneasy world, we shall meet failure and success, sorrow and joy, but they shall serve only as stepping stones to success! May God bless you and keep you.

Class History

The year of 1964 offered a great experience in learning for the senior class of 1968. The walls of the Hawley High School echoed the names of 105--students who were bursting forth to open all doors to learning. Branches were extending in every area. There were representatives in the band, the choir, student council, library club, and the basketball teams. We were represented on the B honor roll each month, and we were determined to make our debut into high school a worthwhile one. When vacation time came, we were convinced that our experiences during the year had been very rewarding.

The next year brought us no less thrills. We were known as sophomores. We, as can be expected, were met with some obstacles that confronted us, but we were determined to overcome all difficulties and strive for perfection. In spite of our trials and tribulations in our algebra class, Joan Timberlake and Veronica Lyons were successful in making the "A" honor roll.

The third year was ushered in with out incident. We felt sure of ourselves and looked forward to a fruitful year. Next to our scholarship, we focused our attention on the Junior-Senior prom. This was a very gala occasion and the theme was "Three Coins In a Fountain". In addition to the Junior-Senior Prom, we also have to remember the great experience we had when we were selected by the choir director to participate in the musical contest held at Johnson C. Smith University in Charlotte. This activity will long be remembered by us.

We systematically marched from one realm to another. This was our final step--seniors. This had been our destination since launching the ship in 1964. We eagerly look forward to graduation when we are given that piece of paper by Hawley High with powers invested by the Board of Education. That is the day!

Among our many senior activities there was the great honor of becoming Miss Hawley High. Miss Veronica Lyons won such a title. Her attendants were: Misses Linda Allen, Joan Timberlake, Alice Hicks and Joan Wright. Miss Mazie Allen was crowned Miss Homecoming. Those were glorious days.

Now as graduation time approaches, we would like to say that we are indebted to our advisors, Mrs. V. F. Brooks and Miss M. C. Chavis for their untiring efforts in guiding us on our way. We know with out their skillful hands to guide us, our sailing would not have been quite as colorful.

As we launch into the depths today, we pray God's blessings to lead us to a successful anchorage.

Mazie Allen

CLASS COLORS
Yellow and Green

CLASS POEM 67-68

With twelve years of laughter and distress,
Now we pause briefly to take a little rest,
To look back over some of our brighter days
And measure how we have progressed in so many ways.

To our classmates whom we love so dear,
From dear Hawley we must disperse,
To our advisor's who were so faithful and true,
We thank you kindly for helping us through.

We owe our greatest thanks to God,
Who was kind enough to let us live
To meet society and offer what we have to give
And obtain the education we have gained here.

Hawley we shall always remember you as a friend indeed
Your mercy has helped us when we were in need,
Now you have put us out on our own,
Traveling through this world meeting the unknown.

CLASS SONG (Tune of "Dear Heart")

Dear ole Hawley High
The time has come
When we must say good-bye
Our work for now is done

Then dear ole Hawley High
We know you've done your best
To train our, to train our minds
So that we may lead on

So we must say good-bye
Our time grows nigh
But thank you for everything
So good-bye 'til we meet again

Chorus:

Good-bye good-bye
We'll all miss you so
But we can't forget the past

The Perfect Mates

The perfect woman of 1967-68:

She will have the height of Delores Curtis; she will have the form of Mazie Allen; she will have the walk of Alice Hicks; she will have the complexion of Annette Moore; she will have the hair of Janice Crowell; she will have the eyes of Linda Cozart; she will have the nose of Veronica Lyons; she will dress like Lethia Rigsbee; she will be kind like Yvonne Landis; she will have the teeth and mouth of Ernestine Allen; she will have the legs of Mazie Allen; she will have the feet of Mildred Cheatham; she will have the voice of Veronica Lyons; she will be friendly like Joan Timberlake; she will be as lovable as Janice Crowell; she will be neat like Mary Cooper; she will be studious like Joan Timberlake; she will be scholarly like Veronica Lyons; she will be thrifty like Mazie Allen; she will be dependable like Linda Allen; she will be as lady-like as Linda Hester, she will be honest like Jo Ann Wright; she will be mannerly like Linda Burt; she will be sweet like Patricia Chavis; she will be clever like Jacqueline Gooch; she will be sympathetic like Shirley McGhee; she will be talkative like Mattie Owens; and she will have the sense of humor as Joan Fields.

Now to go with this perfect specimen of 1967, she will be lonely without a help-mate. We must now seek the perfect man for 1967-68: He will have the height of Johnny Estes; he will have the physique of Kenneth Bullock; he will have the walk of Simon Paschall; he will have the complexion of Calvin Morgan; he will have the hair of William Woodard; he will have the eyes of Harold Eaton; he will have the teeth and mouth of Robert Scott; he will have the feet of Simon Paschall; he will have the voice of Alfonso Washington; he will have the religious conviction of James Burwell; he will dress like Carl Cozart; he will be friendly like John Green; he will be lovable like Billy Lockett; he will be neat like Simon Paschall; he will be studious like William Eaton; he will be scholarly like Percy Winston; he will be thrifty like Clinton Cooper; he will be dependable like Roy Mitchiner; he will be a gentleman like Larry Burwell; he will be honest like William Wortham; he will be mannerly like Larry Mangum; he will be clever like John Green; he will be sympathetic like Otis Daniel; he will be talkative like John Green; he will have the sense of humor like Donnell Terry; he will be musical like James Lawrence; and he will cooperative like Moses Gooch.

Behold we have found the perfect mates of 1967-68.
